

Alabama Department of Corrections
Annual Report
Fiscal Year 2003

MISSION:

The Mission of the Alabama Department of Corrections is the confinement and management of convicted felons, in a secure and humane environment, while preserving the safety of the public, staff and offenders. The department will provide programs and meaningful work opportunities for offenders to facilitate successful re-entry into the community.

ALABAMA DEPARTMENT of CORRECTIONS

Donal Campbell
Commissioner

Commissioner's Message:

Welcome to the Alabama Department of Corrections (ADOC). On behalf of the more than 3,700 hard working employees of this department I present to you the fiscal year 2003 Annual Report.

Once again the fiscal year was an exercise in frugality. Governor Bob Riley has recognized the history of under funding this department has experienced. This past fiscal year, through his leadership, this department received a $30 million supplement to its operating budget. Despite this mid-year improvement, this agency continues to be faced with responsibilities far outweighing the amount of resources that currently can be afforded. Still, I am proud to say that despite operating at nearly double our originally designed capacity, we have made improvements and as a team we continue to provide a safe and secure system for the State of Alabama.

It has been my pleasure to serve as Commissioner and I look forward to working with ADOC as we move forward.

The Alexander City Work Release opened in September 1974 with a designed capacity for 48 community custody inmates. The facility expanded in 1976 and the capacity increased to 64 inmates. The Department originally leased a site from Russell Mills Corporation in Alexander City until early 1993, when adjacent property was purchased from the University of Alabama. Construction of a new facility in June 1993 increased the designed capacity to 180 inmates. The facility's operational capacity increased to 220 when new beds were added in 1995. In 1996, a modular unit was opened increasing operational capacity to 260 (eventually becoming the Honor Dorm), and then a second modular unit was added bringing the total to 300 in 1997 (Substance Abuse Program (SAP) inmates/recent SAP graduates sleeping area). In 1999, an additional row of beds were added bringing ACCBF to it's current operational capacity of 320.

The Center has an on-going Community Work Center that provides free inmate labor to the local and state government entities.

The Center has a full time Drug Treatment Counselor who coordinates an eight (8) week "Crime Bill" Substance Abuse Program and Alcoholics Anonymous and Narcotics Anonymous classes to assist inmates whom are recovering from substance abuse problems.

Religious services are provided weekly by various denominational volunteers.

In 1976, the program was moved into a mobile home complex at the current location. During June of 1989, the Center moved into a permanent structure. The structure had a designed capacity for 144 inmates and two double-bunked holding cells and a chapel. Subsequently the operational capacity has increased to 250 inmates. In 2003 Atmore Work Release added an After Care Program for Alcoholics Anonymous / Narcotics Anonymous.

The center is located on five acres about seven miles north of Atmore on State Highway 21; sitting about one mile off the highway. The Center provides work release inmates to wide-spread employers in Baldwin, Escambia and Monroe counties.

Bibb County Correctional Facility is located within the city limits of Brent, Alabama, on approximately 250 acres of rural wetlands.

Plans for Bibb originated during July 1991 of the Governor Guy Hunt-Commissioner Morris Thigpen administrative tenure, and construction began and progressed during the 1993-1994 Governor Jim Folsom-Commissioner Tommy Herring administration. In 1995, construction was halted during the early part of Governor Fob James-Commissioner Ron Jones administration and resumed under Commissioner Joe Hopper. In July 1997, inmates from the State Cattle Ranch and Elmore Correctional Facility were being transported daily to assist the contractors in the construction of the facility. On May 28, 1998, 75 minimum custody inmates were transferred to the facility and another 75 inmates the next day. During July 1998, another 150 inmates were transferred to the facility, and these 300 inmates helped complete the final construction and prepared the facility's official opening in October 1998. In October 1998, 600 medium and minimum custody inmates were received at the facility. On December 4, 2000, the facility began receiving additional inmates, receiving as many as 100 inmates a day. Reception of inmates continued until the facility was filled to operational capacity, housing a total of 1824. In 2002 as a result of a lawsuit initiated by county sheriffs our population was increased to its present operational capacity of 1896 inmates.

The primary objective at Bibb is to provide offenders with educational, substance abuse treatment and various self-improvement programs to enhance their productive return to society. Bibb County Correctional Facility also provides a total-care medical infirmary with complete dental care, emergency room, and diagnostic services through a private medical contractor.

The Bullock Correctional Facility opened during April 1987, with a capacity for 611 inmates. The 100-acre facility is located on US Highway 82, 1.5 miles east of Union Springs. Bullock CF was constructed for $11,216,000.00.

Bullock's primary mission is the provision of mental health services. Accordingly, the operational capacity was increased to 1,318 inmates housed in 23 dormitories and 20 single cells. The single cells are primarily used for inmates under mental health observation and secondarily for administrative and/or disciplinary segregation purposes. Programs and treatment protocols include Intermediate and Intensive Mental Health, substance abuse treatment, adult basic education programs, and daily religious programs.

Additionally, Bullock offers comprehensive medical health care that encompasses mental health, medical, and dental care, to include free-world specialty services.

The facility is medium security level. Accordingly, the perimeter security has double 18-foot tall chain link fences topped with razor ribbon wire. Additionally, the perimeter is reinforced by an electronic security system. Perimeter security is further augmented by one armed guard tower and an armed perimeter patrol.

The industrial operation was closed and is currently being renovated into a Mental Health complex, which would house approximately 200 additional inmates.

Faith-Based Honor Dorm

Bullock's Faith-Based Honor Dorm program began in October 1999 with an operational capacity for 74 inmates. The predominate religions represented are Catholic, Muslim, and Protestant.

Each resident must enroll in one of the existing religious education programs and participate a minimum of six hours per week in class, and two hours of prayer. Dorm activities include six bible studies per week; three Qur'an (Koran) studies per week; two hours of seminars per week; and ten hours of teaching video time.

Bullock Work Release (WR) began as an integral part of the Bullock Correctional Facility. During July 1995, the Center was relocated into four doublewide trailers (for inmate living quarters) outside the fenced perimeter. During February 1997, an additional trailer was added, increasing the operational capacity to 225 inmates. In April 1999, additional beds were added increasing the operational capacity to 231 inmates. Bullock CF provided catered meals and access to the law library. During February 1997, a substance abuse program began with the staffing of two Drug Treatment Counselors to complement Narcotics Anonymous/Alcoholics Anonymous. In March 1997, Bullock Work Release became an independent organizational entity separate from the main facility's administration.

Inmates received at Bullock WR are typically classified as minimum-custody status and assigned non-paying jobs at the Center for a period of observation. When a paying job is obtained within the community, the inmates are reclassified as community-custody status. Free-world employment opportunities around a three county area include poultry processing, dry cleaning, auto mechanics, sod farming, cabinet making and wood finishing, and column building and construction.

Camden Work Release was converted from an Alabama Highway Department Road Camp to a work release facility in March 1976 as a measure to alleviate overcrowding. At that time, Commissioner Judson Locke appointed a Highway Department employee L. H. Prickett, to temporarily be the Center's first director. Shortly thereafter a permanent director, Arnold Holt was selected. Subsequent directors have been Ronald Kitzinger, Steve Dees, David Lane, and Howard Daniels.

In 1976, Camden's designed capacity was 55. By 1985, the operational capacity had increased to 88. Today, the operational capacity at Camden Work Release is 182.

The center is located within the city limits of Camden on Highway 10 Bypass. Typically, in the past 18 employers, predominantly in catfish processing and timber industry, use about 130 inmates. On-going community work service provides free inmate labor to the city of Camden, the Wilcox County Commission, other county agencies, the Department of Corrections' Basic Training Academy, State Trooper post in Selma, and the Alabama Department of Transportation in Camden and Grove Hill, Alabama.

The Childersburg Community Complex is composed of three separate facilities, each with a separate mandate.

CHILDERSBURG COMMUNITY WORK CENTER is a community works service facility with an operational capacity of 250 inmates classified as minimum-out custody status. The inmates providing free labor are assigned to individual community squads and the squads are assigned to various state and local governmental agencies. The agencies accept responsibility for supervising the assigned squad and transportation to and from the Center.

CHILDERSBURG BOOT CAMP is an intensive 180-day program with dual emphasis on a military boot camp style regiment and personal improvement programs. These include strict discipline, rigorous exercise, Adult Basic Education with 1 full time teacher and 2 part time aides, substance abuse, special services (special education) with 2 employees, and life skills counseling. The facility has an operational capacity of 120 inmates per cycle. Boot camp participants are not processed through the Receiving & Classification at Kilby like typical state inmates entering the Department; rather, the participants are sentenced directly from the committing county to the program by court order and remain under judicial review. After successful completion of Boot Camp, the inmate is returned to the jurisdiction of the sentencing judge for final disposition of the sentence.

CHILDERSBURG WORK RELEASE CENTER became operational in July 1996 and has an operational capacity of 180 inmates. As a re-integrative program, the inmates work in free-world jobs during the day and return to the Center after work. The inmates have 40% of their gross salary deducted from their prevailing wages to help defray the cost of their incarceration.

The Facility employs 1 full time medical personnel.

The Center has a Drug Treatment Counselor to assist recovering inmates with substance abuse aftercare, Relapse Therapy and Narcotics Anonymous/Alcoholics Anonymous programs. Also in place at Decatur Community Based Facility are peer programs such as the Inmate Mentoring Program and the Faith Based Honor Dorm. Personal Development classes are offered to the entire population and the New Life Behavior Series of classes is taught to those residents of the Faith Based Honor Dorm.

William E. Donaldson Correctional Facility, officially opened in October 1982 as the West Jefferson Correctional Facility with a capacity of 700 minimum and medium custody inmates housed in dormitories, and 32 single cells. The facility was named in honor of a correctional officer assigned at West Jefferson who was killed in the line of duty. Subsequently, Donaldson was expanded to the current capacity, and has a 199-inmate segregation unit. Classified as a maximum-security institution, Donaldson specializes in controlling repeat and/or multiple violent offenders with lengthy sentences that are behaviorally difficult to manage. Donaldson currently houses approximately 436 inmates sentenced to life without parole. Donaldson has a death row unit with a capacity of 24 inmates. Currently Donaldson has an operational capacity of 1,760 inmates.

Donaldson has an extensive array of programs available to inmates. Donaldson offers an educational program that is coordinated through Lawson State Community College. Inmates that are not capable of performing at the basic skill level can receive tutoring through the Laubach Reading and Writing program that is coordinated by the Chaplain and civilian volunteers. Inmates can also take advantage of an Adult Basic Education program and receive their General Education Degree. In addition, Lawson State also offers vocational education opportunities to population inmates that have less than a Life Without Parole sentence. Vocations offered are barbering, drafting, cabinetry, plumbing, electrical, and brick masonry.

Donaldson also offers a variety of treatment-oriented programs. In "E" & "F" Cellblock, a three-phased drug treatment program was started in 1997 and provides approximately 133 inmates with active treatment, while another 133 inmates are involved in pre-treatment and/or aftercare. Donaldson was the creator of the first Faith Based Program, detailed below. Donaldson also offers numerous classes supervised by a staff psychologist, allowing inmates to learn how to cope with psychological problems. Classes available are Narcotics Anonymous, Alcohol Anonymous, Sexual Addict Anonymous, Values Clarification, Transactional Analysis, Anger Management, Emotional Awareness, Healthy use of Leisure Time, Self-Concept Enhancement, and Reality Therapy.

The Special Services Department at J.F. Ingram State Technical College has specially designed classroom instructions to meet the unique needs of incarcerated students who qualify for Special Education Services. It includes services for the students with any of the following disabilities that interfere with their ability to benefit from regular education: learning disabilities, mental retardation, disorders, and physical disabilities. Incarcerated individuals under the age of 21 who have previously received special education services in the public school system are identified and are reevaluated to determine continued eligibility.

Donaldson also operates a Mental Health Treatment Program. This program consist of a staff of approximately 26 Mental Health professionals, including Psychologists, Mental Health Professionals, Activity Tech, Registered / Licensed Professional Nurses and Correctional Officers who are assigned for security in addition to being actively involved with inmate treatment. There are currently 127 mental health beds available for this program. There are inmates with serious mental illnesses that are in population and are treated as out-patients by the mental health staff.

Faith-Based Honor Dorm

The Honor Dorm is housed in “B” Dorm. This program has proven to be very effective, and it has been the model for other facilities in establishing similar programs.

The idea for the Honor Community at Donaldson evolved around the need to have an living area that could be managed with minimal security while providing opportunities for inmates to achieve personal growth. In September 1997, Ben Sherrod, a free-world volunteer affiliated with Kairos Prison Ministries, and other volunteers from Briarwood Presbyterian Church and Prison Fellowship presented Warden Billy Mitchem with a proposal to establish an atmosphere within the prison that was conducive for spiritual and personal growth. Warden Mitchem gave final approval for the Honor Community in December 1997 and it was officially started in February 1998. The first year was mostly trial and error about what type of organizational structure would work best and what type of classes were most beneficial. Initially, there was varying degrees of opposition and skepticism from staff and inmates alike, but during the first year, a gradual consensus developed that the Honor Community successfully produced the desired goals.

Phase II, which began in April 1999, was distinguished by a greater level of teamwork between the DOC, volunteer staff, and the inmates. Written standard operating procedures were implemented and since have proven to be effective in the administration of the Honor Community. Class curriculums were further defined, offering specific classes of development that are mandatory for each program participant. The Honor Community is not a program based upon privileges, but of opportunity and responsibility, which was emphasized by increasing the amount of hours per week that participants are required to work and by increasing the number of classes they must take.

Phase III will include more classes, more mentors, more evangelism and greater involvement by volunteers from the surrounding area and community.

Draper was constructed in 1939 with a designed capacity of 600 first-time male felony offenders, replacing the burned Speigner Reformatory. Named in honor of Warden Hamp Draper, the institution is located on Highway 143, approximately 12 miles west of Wetumpka in Elmore County on 3,560 acres of land. The current operational capacity of 1,232 is housed in seven dormitory-style cellblocks, architecturally designed in a telegraph pole configuration popular of that era. Draper also has a segregation unit with a capacity for 47-inmates. Draper is the oldest prison in the ADOC system.

Draper houses primarily young male first-time offenders in a Level IV security classification. Security is provided by perimeter towers, vehicular patrols, and a chain linked fence topped with razor ribbon.

Each inmate has an assigned job, which includes food service, sanitation, a large farming operation, a laundry, a furniture plant, and a vehicle garage. Draper Correctional Center also provides the opportunity for educational or vocational improvement. JF Ingram State Technical College and the Draper/Staton Trade School offer a wide variety of programs, which include a General Education Degree or Trade School vocation. Treatment Programs are also available to include Stress Management, Anger Reduction, Sexual Adjustment, Substance Abuse, Violence Interruption, Self-Concept Enhancement, Depression Reduction, Reality Therapy, Crime Bill, Pre-Release, and Value Clarification.

Faith Based Honor Dorm

Established during fiscal year 1999, the Faith Based Dorm was introduced to provide religious programming. The program uses two dormitories with an operational capacity for 236 inmates. The program is administered by the facility chaplain with the assistance and support of The Word of Life Christian Center. In addition to religious studies residents attend classes on parenting, money management, and life skills. Prior to admission to the program, inmates must go through a screening process.

Easterling Correctional Facility became operational on March 3, 1990 with a designed capacity for 600 general population inmates and 52 segregation inmates. Easterling is comprised of 200 acres located approximately 2.5 miles southeast of Clio on Highway 10. The 30 acre fenced in campus-style complex was designed to house medium custody inmates. It was named in honor of Danny A. Easterling, long-time mayor of Clio, who was instrumental in securing the facility's location.

Easterling has a dorm dedicated for drug treatment of inmates who have a history of substance abuse. A staff of drug counselors manages approximately 170 inmates involved in the program, including pre-treatment / aftercare, and Alcoholics Anonymous and Narcotics Anonymous.

Easterling provides vocational programs through Wallace Community College and J. F. Ingram Technical College. Approximately 225 inmates participate in improving themselves through literacy or Adult Basic Education classes, or in trades such as drafting, industrial electricity, cabinet making, plumbing, or brick masonry.

In November 1998, Easterling was approved for and entered into a cooperative agreement with the National Institute of Corrections to become a Zero Tolerance Drug and Tobacco Free Prison, one of only four prisons in the nation to enter into the agreement. To accomplish this goal, Easterling had to acquire four drug detecting dogs (K-9), four dog handlers, one radio operator to monitor the telephones, one new Drug Treatment Counselor, and an Ion Scanner to help in the detection and interdiction of drugs entering the facility. Easterling is the only tobacco-free major institution in the state system. Smoking cessation classes are available for staff and inmates.

Easterling has a Faith Based Honor Dorm which houses 124 inmates. Education, both religious and secular, is high priority in this dorm. Freeworld volunteers who are essential to the success of the dorm give their time to teach classes and provide moral and spiritual guidance to the inmates. Easterling also operates an Honor Dorm which houses 114 inmates. Inmates in this dorm are involved in non-faith based self-help groups and various personal development classes. Easterling has a program called the Fatherhood Initiative which trains inmates in becoming the best fathers they can be.

Easterling also offers a number of mental health workshops such as Anger Management, Stress Management, Values Clarification, and Reality Therapy. Such workshops are offered by the ADOC Psychological Associate and the Mental Health Counselor and or Mental Health Nurse.

All inmates are encouraged to participate in the various programs offered at Easterling and a prolonged mission to reach and maintain full staffing is ongoing.

Elmore Correctional Center, originally named Staton Annex, originated in 1981 as a temporary institution that used pre-fabricated modular units as dormitories and a permanently constructed dining hall. The facility is located just north of Montgomery in Elmore County, and is adjacent to Draper and Staton. During July 1991, the three dormitories were constructed for permanency and the operational capacity increased to 350 inmates per dorm. Additionally, a new kitchen was added to the dining hall and the old kitchen renovated into an administrative area.

Elmore has a visiting area, a law library, a substance abuse treatment area, and a chapel. The inmates have opportunity to participate in numerous religious, recreational, educational and self-help programs.

Elmore operates a regional laundry service for the nearby facilities. In addition, it is the recycling headquarters for the department and also composts for the other local facilities. The recycling operation expanded in 1999. This expansion allowed the recycling operation to generate more revenue for the department. Inmates classified as minimum-in custody are required to work on the institution's property under the supervision of department employees. Inmates classified as minimum-out custody may work off the property under free-world supervision. Inmates employed on renovation crews of the Alabama Correctional Industries are housed at their work sites until weekends and holidays when they are returned to the institution.

Faith-Based Honor Dorm

The Faith-Based Honor Dorm was established in May 1998. It has the operational capacity of 196 inmates and stays full. A waiting list for entry is maintained. The criteria for entry is one year's clear record. Inmates are allowed some extra privileges and have four "family night" events per year.

An Oversight Committee consisting of the Chaplain, the Classification Specialist Supervisor and the Captain appoint 8 interns every 6 months. These interns resolve minor conflicts within the Honor Dorm. Disciplinary actions in the Honor Dorm are much lower than in the other dorms.

The Farquhar Cattle Ranch was purchased in 1940 to supply the Department with beef. Located in Hale County, the 4,610-acre Ranch is approximately eight miles east of Greensboro, and extends from Highway 69 to the Black Warrior River. The Ranch was named in honor of Charles Farquhar, who was killed in the line of duty, and whose efforts culminated the ranch into an efficient working prison farm. The Ranch maintains minimum and trusty custody inmates, which when not working on the Ranch, provide free labor to community work projects for local county, city, and other government agencies

The Ranch's primary operations are cattle and catfish production. A herd of about 625 mature cattle are kept on 1,800 acres of grazing pastures. The adult herd is culled annually of nonproductive cows, which are sold at competitive bid at a stockyard. The calves are weaned and also sold through an open auction. The Ranch keeps about 300 acres for hay production, as well as having some timberland.

The catfish production is a commercial operation with 35 ponds on 400 acres. Of the ponds, 15 are production ponds, 4 are used primarily for brood ponds, and 16 ponds for fingerlings. A hatchery produces the fingerlings, which are used for restocking the production ponds after the fish are sold. Any surplus fingerlings are sold through open bid to local catfish farmers.

In addition to the revenues generated from the cattle and catfish operations, further revenues are generated from the sale of quail, pecans, horses, and goats.

G.K. Fountain Correctional Center

G.K. Fountain Correctional Center was officially opened in 1928 and was known as Atmore Prison. At that time the prison operated the Moffett Prison Farm on much of the farm acreage that remains ADOC property. In 1949 the main prison burned. The prison was reconstructed and reopened in 1955. The prison was designed to house 632 medium custody inmates. In 1968 Atmore Prison was renamed G.K. Fountain Correctional Center in honor of Green Kelly Fountain who was the first Warden assigned to Atmore Prison.

Today the prison is located on approximately 7,000 acres of farm, pasture and timberland approximately seven miles north of Atmore, Alabama adjacent to State Highway 21. The prison houses 1,213 medium and minimum custody, adult, male felony offenders. The housing units consist of eight open-bay dorms with 1,149 double bunked beds and 64 single cell units.

G.K. Fountain Correctional Center utilizes inmate labor to maintain and operate a beef cattle operation, agricultural operations, a vegetable garden, a central laundry, and a fleet services garage. In excess of 600 inmates are assigned jobs that are centered around these particular operations.

Inmates at G.K. Fountain Correctional Center have opportunities for educational and vocational training through the Jefferson Davis Community College. The college provides Adult Basic Education classes, Brick Masonry, Barbering, Cabinet Making, Small Engine Repair, Automotive Repair, Welding, Auto Body Repair, Quality Food Preparation, and Computer Technology. Program completion ranges are between 12 and 18 months. Two hundred and fifty inmates may attend the programs each quarter.

G.K. Fountain Correctional Center has a 10 bed medical infirmary with twenty-four hour health care available for inmates. The unit also provides medical and dental support for local work release facilities.

The facility is responsible for the employee and inmate drug-testing program at Fountain/J.O. Davis, Holman Unit, Atmore Work Release and Camden Work Release.

G.K. Fountain Correctional Center is the home of the K-9 Man Tracking Unit for the Southern Region. That unit normally responds to more than fifty (50) requests from other law enforcement agencies during the year. The unit is on call twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week. The unit's duties range from apprehending inmates on escape and fleeing felons to rescuing or finding lost or runaway children.

G.K. Fountain Correctional Center has a Faith Based Honor Dorm program. The program began with 77 inmates. It has grown to 344 inmate participants. The program provides classes and tutoring in life skills, parenting, budgeting and other personal development classes. The program is a rigid program that promotes personal, spiritual, and religious growth among its participants. The program has been successful in that inmate participants are seldom cited for violating prison rules.

J.O. Davis Correctional Facility

The J.O. Davis Correctional Facility, located approximately 350 yards west of G.K. Fountain Correctional Center, is a level II, minimum security facility that functions as a dorm of G.K. Fountain Correctional Center. The unit was built in 1973 and housed 250 inmates. Formerly the Trusty Barracks, it was renamed in honor of a former Fountain warden. The facility burned in 1995. It was refurbished and reopened in 1995 with an operational capacity of 400. The 400 adult, male felony offenders are housed in 4 open-bay dorms with all beds double bunked. The inmates assigned to J.O. Davis Correctional Facility provide community service work crews for various city, county and state agencies. The J.O. Davis unit provides 200 inmates for community service on a daily basis. Another 130 inmates are assigned on-property jobs.

The J.O. Davis Unit has an eight-week Substance Abuse Treatment Program for inmates who are court ordered or who need and request substance abuse treatment.

Frank Lee Youth Center became operational on June 1964 with a designed capacity for 104 first time male offenders, twenty-one or younger, with a sentence of less than ten years. The facility was named in honor of A. Frank Lee, a previous prison commissioner. In 1975, two additional dormitories were built increasing the capacity to 200 inmates. Today the facility has four dormitories, administrative area, ancillary service areas, and houses an operational capacity of 288 adult, minimum custody offenders. The Center architecturally resembles a school rather than a prison, and uses frequent and irregular head counts for security rather than fences, bars and towers.

The Center is immediately adjacent to the J. F. Ingram State Community College, which has in attendance about 220 inmates from nearby Staton, Draper, and Elmore. Frank Lee Youth Center provides security staff for these attendees while at J. F. Ingram State Community College, and also provides their noon meals.

Frank Lee Youth Center's inmate population is divided into two sub-categories: permanent party and pre-work release inmates.

Inmates assigned to permanent party are low risk inmates and have never committed a sex offense. Typically assigned to the Center on a long-term basis, the permanent party inmates attend trade school for vocational training, or General Education Degree classes, participate in substance abuse programs, work on community squads for state, county and city agencies or are utilized for institutional jobs at Frank Lee Youth Center.

In contrast pre-work release inmates are assigned to the facility on a short-term basis, having been classified for work release and are awaiting placement to work release.

Frank Lee Youth Center's motto is: "Through teamwork comes Success"

On May 10, 1981, the aged and infirmed inmates from Kilby Correctional Facility were moved to Hamilton into a refurbished facility purchased from the Alabama Mental Health Department. At the same time, the Hamilton Work Release Center located nearby in a previous road camp facility was closed. This established the Hamilton Aged and Infirmed Center (HAIC), which combined the two sub-populations groups into one facility. However, in August 1985, additional space was needed for an increasing aged and/or infirmed sub-population, and the work release element relocated back into the previous Work Release Center.

HAIC has approximately five acres within a security fence, and houses minimum and medium custody inmates that are aged and/or infirmed. The medium custody A&I inmates are housed in such a manner as to provide adequate security along with the necessary medical services needed by each individual. A staff of minimum custody inmates provide facility upkeep and community work service.

During fiscal year 1999, an additional forty-two beds were added, to increase the facility operational capacity to 300 inmates. A&I is a geriatric facility for the old and medically disabled inmates within the Department of Corrections.

The Center has a diverse and volatile job market with inmates employed in the mobile home industry, furniture industry, storm window/door industry, as well as common labor jobs such as saw mills.

Hamilton Work Release has a variety of activities offered to the inmates. Many different religious denominations have programs and General Education Degree classes take place weekly.

Holman Correctional Facility opened during December 1969, with a designed capacity for 520 medium custody inmates, which also included a cellblock for 20 death row inmates. It was constructed for $5,000,000 during Governor Lurleen Wallace and Commissioner James T. Hagen's administration. Named in honor of a former warden William C. Holman, it is located in southwest Escambia County, nine miles north of Atmore on State Highway 21.

A major addition was completed in the summer of 2000 to add 200 single cells to the segregation unit. This addition was required to keep up with the increasing number of inmates on Death Row which had grown to more than 150.

Holman currently houses maximum through minimum custody inmates to include a large contingency of life without parole inmates. The death chamber is located at Holman where all executions are conducted. In the fall of 2002, the execution chamber was remodeled to provide for the conversion to lethal injection as a method of execution.

There are many programs offered to inmates at Holman to help prepare them for a return to society. Trade School classes are offered for Barbering, Brick Masonry, Upholstery, and Adult Basic Education classes. There are also two major correctional industries within the facility's perimeter, a tag plant and metal fabrication plant.

Mental Health and spiritually based programs can also be vital to an inmate's adjustment for possible release and Holman offers many programs such as Anger Management, Alcoholics/Narcotics Anonymous, Personal Development, Substance Abuse Intervention, Long Distance Dads, and Depression Workshop.

Holman Correctional Facility Mental Health Services are comprised of:

Psychiatrist- 20 hours per week.
Psychologist- 20 hours per week.
Mental Health Professional (two)- 40 hours per week.
Licensed Professional Nurse- 40 hours per week.
Mental Health Clerk- 20 hours per week.
ADOC Psych. Associate- 40 hours per week.

2003 was a year to be proud of for Holman Correctional Facility Mental Health Department. Holman became one of the first institutions in the state to achieve compliance with the Bradley Settlement Agreement. This was accomplished during Dr. Haddad's September, 2003 visit. Holman was also cited as being a "model facility" for the rest of the system's mental health services. In May 2003, two safe cells were established at Holman Correctional Facility. The year 2003 saw the psychiatric coverage double to 20 hours per week. Group therapy was initiated for inmates in the segregation unit- another first at Holman. Programs include Anger Management, Stress Management, Medication Management, Values Clarification, Relapse Prevention, and Thinking for a Change. Self-Awareness, and Communications Skills. A Sleep Hygiene group was also introduced to address the numerous complaints of insomnia in a non-pharmacological manner.

Faith Based Restorative Justice Honor Dorm 2003 Summary Report

The Honor Dorm at Holman Unit is now functioning in a 174-bed dormitory that has housed the honor dorm since December 2002; the faith based honor dorm, however has been operating since October 8, 1999. Holman's faith based honor dorm is founded upon restorative justice philosophical principles in all of its goals, curriculum, and strategy for lifestyle programming. Since the time of the Honor Dorm's inception, there have been great strides towards culturally changing this group of inmates from an inmate's cultural, value disposition to a more productive, contributive, communal outlook. This is accomplished by means of appeals to notice areas of identified needs and to one's humanity, commonly known as one's heart. There are four general areas through which the aforementioned strategy is applied: lectures of exposure and participants' interaction; an academic setting for cognitive skills to be developed; an environment that is conducive for and supports the need for change; opportunities to implement that which is taught for a communal reorientation to life, which produces desires for a productive life and charitable, life goals.

There are many different programming activities that are new in Holman's Honor dorm; the fundamental principles, by which all programming in the honor dorm is structured, are restorative in practice reflecting a restorative justice communal, structural model. One tool of measurement to qualify the success of the dormitory can be seen in the disciplinary, comparison record.

The dorm's educational classes have been divided into two categories, community educational classes and academic educational classes. All classes, to some degree, teach restorative justice principles. One major objective of restorative programming is to help honor dorm residents better understand their crimes in relational and economic terms that affect all aspects of their life. It is the objective of this programming to aid residents, through education and exposure to various relational concepts, in changing their behavior to a contributive way of life in a communal setting rather than a life of solipsism that causes one to act with criminal intent.

Restorative justice insists an accountability that requires personal change in areas of one's cultural habits, one's world view, and one's lifestyle. Holman's Faith Based Restorative Justice is making progress with these objectives one person at a time through the context of a different community in the society of the incarcerated. Other means by which outcomes of progress can be measured are empirical through evidence of communal productivity, attitudes of community residents, and growth of contributive programming that benefit others in need including those outside of Holman's honor dorm community. The success of contributive programming can also be identified by inmates and residents who are receptive to ideas of exposing their needs that these programs can meet and their willingness to accept a certain level of accountability to act out a new way of thinking that facilitated their acts of crime.

Kilby Correctional Facility was established during December 1969 with a designed capacity of 440 inmates as the Mt. Meigs Medical and Diagnostic Center. Located in the Mt. Meigs community, the facility is located on 154 acres just outside the city limits of Montgomery and replaced another prison of the same name and similar function. Designed to be the receiving center for all male inmates, it had dormitories, 100 two-man cells, and a hospital unit. The facility was later renamed in honor of Thomas E. Kilby, who was governor when his namesake, the old Kilby Prison, was constructed during 1923.

Kilby is a maximum-security prison because all inmates, those with known or unknown criminal histories, are received into the Department for further evaluation, classification, and assignment to other correctional facilities within the system. Perimeter security is achieved with a double fence of 18-foot tall chain link, mesh-topped with razor wire, and overlooked by five towers. In addition to the Receiving and Classification Center, Kilby also furnishes the Hospital Services including medical and mental health treatment. The medical facilities provides comprehensive health care to include dental services, mental health care; and medical treatment which includes free world specialty care, and all related support services.

During 2000, an Inmate Faith-Based Honor Dorm comprised of 124 inmates and a Substance Abuse Program involving 30 inmates per eight-week program was created at Kilby CF. Various classes were conducted to instill within the inmates that they must have faith in themselves that they can change before it will happen. SAP is an eight-week program designed to eliminate alcohol and drugs in the lives of the inmates.

Kilby also maintains a dog-tracking team, which is used to assist local law enforcement agencies in tracking and apprehending escapees, suspects of crimes and missing persons. On-site employee training programs are conducted at Kilby for local ADOC Institutional security and support personnel within the Montgomery area.

Inmate programs offered by Kilby includes anger management, Narcotics/Alcoholics Anonymous, a chapter of the Volunteers in Corrections, sex offenders therapy, General Education Degree/Adult Basic Education classes, 12-Step alcohol/drug counseling, chaplaincy services, and individual and group therapy offered as part of an on-going mental health program. Kilby also has a correctional industry plant for printing and graphic arts, and maintains an institutional garden for fresh produce. In 2002 Kilby enhance it's Pre-release program using outside agencies to provide training for inmates use upon release. The Department of Education placed two double wide trailers at Kilby in 2002 to accommodate the educational and special education testing done here. The Chaplain initiated the Long Distance Dads Program to assist inmate fathers to relate better to the children and wives.

Faith-Based Honor Dorm

Kilby's Faith-Based Honor Dormitory residents are expected to show exemplary conduct in all areas of their daily life. The following classes and sessions were offered during 2003: Moral Development, Anger Replacement, Finding a Job, Life Skills, Keeping the Family Alive while Serving a Prison Sentence, Biblical Economics, Prayer, Leadership Principles, Video Classes, and Motivational Sessions. In 2002, Relapse Prevention and Reality Therapy classes were added. In addition a basic English and pre- General Education Degree classes were added.

The eligible Dorm participants engaged in two Family Fellowships during the year. The family fellowship is an evening when families are allowed special visits with Honor Dorm inmates, and as such, are powerful motivation incentives to encourage inmates to follow the tenets of the Faith Dorm. Many participants of the Faith-Based Honor Dorm have been recognized for their leadership and contributions in making the dorm a desirable place for inmates assigned at Kilby.

New buildings were added on July 13, 1989. These consisted of a dormitory to house 180 male inmates, a dining facility/administrative building, and a supply area. The overall capacity increased to 192 inmates, 180 male and 12 female.

On March 15, 1990, two modular buildings, constructed by prison industries, were opened to accommodate 24 female inmates and a recreation area. The facility operational capacity grew to 204 inmates, 180 males and 24 females.

In January 1991, a visiting pavilion, a supply/storage building, and a hobby craft/classroom building were opened. Montgomery Community Based Facility has a current operational capacity of 296 and is no longer co-correctional as the female inmates were relocated to a nearby women's facility.

Inmates work full time jobs in the community and return to the facility after work.

In 1893, the Department purchased the Williams Plantation property and used it as a farming operation in support of other prisons. Previously known as Number Four Camp and Number Four Spot, the low lying farmland is located three miles north of Montgomery, and consists of 2,385 acres of land bordered on three sides by the Tallapoosa River. During the Department's road camp era, the facility was used to house county misdemeanants. After the old Kilby Prison was closed on January 21, 1970, Number Four Camp was also closed. However, during June 1972, Number Four Honor Camp was reopened to expand the newly developed work release program's capacity. Initially, the work release inmates were housed in barracks converted from old chicken houses. It was these inmates that were transferred to Montgomery Work Release Center. In 1976, and continuing to 1983, the facility was renovated by constructing two dormitories, which created a operational capacity of 264 minimum custody inmates. In 1999 twenty beds were added and increased the operational capacity of 284 minimum custody inmates. In 2001 twenty four beds were added and increased the operational capacity of 308 minimum custody inmates.

Red Eagle is an Indian name given to William Weatherford, a noted leader of the Creek Indians. The facility's property contains numerous archeological artifacts from an early Creek meeting ground. In 1976, the Chief and Council of the Creek Indian Nation gave approval to the Department of Corrections to use Red Eagle's name for the facility.

Red Eagle Honor Farm is primarily a cattle and agricultural operation. Additionally, Red Eagle provides inmates on a daily basis to the State Troopers, Alabama Air National Guard Units, Alabama Department of Transportation, Forestry Commission, Coliseum, Alcohol Beverage Control Board and other municipalities, state and federal agencies. Red Eagle provides skilled inmate labor to the Alabama Correctional Industries. These crews construct or remodel buildings for the various state, county and city agencies. Red Eagle also provides, with departmental supervision, free inmate labor to area Montgomery County schools. The crews paint and renovate classrooms as well as repair dilapidated areas.

Red Eagle provides opportunities for assigned inmates to take Adult Basic Education Prep classes once a week, enabling them to complete the GED and receive certification.

Red Eagle has an active religious program. A volunteer Chaplain is assigned to oversee the various services, and to provide daily counseling. Ministers from different faiths also conduct services, on a regular basis.

Red Eagle has a volunteer who coordinates Alcoholics / Narcotics Anonymous classes once per week to assist inmates whom are recovering from substance abuse problems.

In 1977, construction of a new Draper Correctional Center began. On June 25, 1978, the new facility was named Thomas F. Staton Correctional Center in honor of Thomas F Staton, a previous Chairman of the Board of Corrections. The institution is located on Highway 143, approximately 12 Miles West of Wetumpka in Elmore County. The medium security prison opened with a designed capacity of 440 inmates. Mr. Walter T. Capps was appointed as Director of Staton and Draper. Directorship continued until 1979 when a Warden, Psychologist, Chaplain, Recreational Director and three Classification Specialists were assigned.

The psychologist and classification specialists reviewed inmate's files to identify special needs inmates. The mentally retarded inmates were assigned to one dormitory—"D"-Dorm. Officers were trained to supervise and monitor the behavior of the mentally retarded inmates.

A 48 bed infirmary was built between Staton and Draper compounds to handle inmate illnesses and injuries. The Aged and Infirm (A & I) inmates were assigned to the Infirmary. The A & I Unit remained at Staton until February, 1980 when they were transferred to Hamilton A & I.

In September 1980, a new food processing facility was added which was connected to the Staton compound by a sally port. At the peak of farm production, this facility utilized up to three shifts of approximately 33 inmates each. It had the capability of canning or freezing essentially all farm products. This facility closed in June, 1998. In anticipation of turning this site into a dormitory, a new tower was constructed at this facility during 1998. This tower is now known as Tower #5.

In July, 1981, a new trailer unit was added. The trailer units had four identical bays, each with a capacity of 25 inmates. In October 1981, a new Annex was opened approximately one mile from the Staton main compound. It consisted of five identical modular units, each with a capacity of 100 inmates. The Annex was a medium security facility with the Warden at Staton supervising both facilities. In October 1986, Staton Annex was designed as a separate facility and was appointed a Warden. The facility was named Elmore Correctional Facility.

A chapel for the inmates was built in 1987 and named Teague Chapel. Frazier Memorial United Methodist Church was a great supporter of the construction.

Considered modern at the time, each of the four original dormitories (A, B, C, and D) was identical and contained three bays complete with toilet and bathing amenities. Each dorm had a centrally located control cubicle for electronically operated exit and entrance doors, lights, fans and individual bay doors. A separate dormitory (E) was completed in 1989. The previous "E" Dormitory was designated as "H" Dormitory for Honor Dorm. The new dorm raised the operational capacity of Staton to 641. A 12-foot chain link fence surrounds Staton. The external fence was originally designed with razor wire installed inside and on top of the fence and three guard towers to enhance the perimeter security.

In 1997, a Complex Garden Project was organized to provide fresh produce for all centrally located institutions.

In April, 1998, a shakedown shack was constructed at the back gate sally port to pat-search inmates arriving and departing the facility.

In September 2000, the Bradley Lawsuit was settled resulting in increasing mental health services and expanded mental health training for Corrections officials.

In April 2001, two units were added to the facility for Special Education and Substance Abuse Programs (SAP).

On May 25, 2001, Staton Correctional Facility opened a new dormitory known as "G" Dorm designed to house 330 inmates. This was accomplished by the renovation of the Canning Plant and resulted in an increase of Staton's total operational capacity to 1346 inmates. Towers 4 and 5 were added to the perimeter fence at this time.

In September 2002, a building was constructed to house the generator that was located in the communications building.

On December 19, 2002, the bed capacity of "G" Dorm was increased to 360 inmates which brought Staton's total operational capacity to 1376.

In May, 2003, a snack line was added as an extension to the canteen to provide quick foods and snacks for the inmates.

Staton provides emergency medical care and an observational unit for nearby Draper, Elmore, and Frank Lee. Additionally, Staton offers educational/vocational courses for Adult Basic Education, college classes, a literacy program, auto body and heavy equipment repair, upholstery, welding, horticulture, barbering, and commercial food service. Staton also has a law library, a regular library, staff psychologist for counseling, and a substance abuse treatment program.

Faith-Based Honor Dorm

The Faith Based Dorm program began October 1, 1999 with 48 inmates. In the beginning it shared a dorm with the Substance Abuse Program. On October 29-31, 2001 it was moved to "G"-Dorm which is a more spacious building with room for Faith Based Dorm classes, meetings and other events.

The objective of the Faith Based Dorm is to provide the inmates with the tools they need to become productive citizens when they re-enter society and provide a quieter and cleaner living environment while in prison. The Faith Based Dorm was established to provide an environment managed by minimal security and an opportunity for inmates to achieve spiritual and personal goals. Residents are encouraged to face their problems, and find solutions and support needed to solve their problems through spiritual principles and concepts. The program provides life teaching skills as well as communication skills which is based on opportunity and responsibility, not privileges. Standard Operating Procedures were implemented and specific mandatory classes were developed. Activities of the program are: Spiritual Guidance, Computer Training, Grammar Skills, Basic Math, Writing Assignments and Anger Management. Incentives are given to the inmates as a reward for their efforts. Positions are assigned to residents for establishing a chain of command in managing activities of the dorm.

The Faith Based Dorm has been a positive addition to Staton Correctional Facility. It has been an excellent security management tool in reducing the amount of security needed for the dorm, and has made the dorm officer's job more effective.

OPENED: DECEMBER 1942 TO HOUSE FEMALE INMATES

DESIGNED CAPACITY:549

OPERATIONAL CAPACITY:1,006

The current Julia Tutwiler Prison for Women was completed in December 1942, at a cost of $350,000 and had a designed capacity for 400 female inmates. The new Tutwiler Prison replaced an older Tutwiler Prison for Women, which had previously been the state's first prison, the Wetumpka Prison. The Wetumpka Prison had gradually been converted to house female inmates and had been renamed in honor of the "Angel of the Stockades", Julia S. Tutwiler, a noted Alabama educator and crusader for inmate education, classification, and improvement of prison conditions.

The prison's 400-bed capacity had never been fully utilized until the 1980's when the female population growth surpassed the available bed space. In addition to being the main prison for females, Tutwiler is also the receiving unit for all in-coming female inmates. Tutwiler also has a death row, maximum-security segregation and isolation units, a medical infirmary, a pregnancy unit, HIV positive unit, and a unit for the aged and/or infirmed, in addition to nine dormitories for general population use. Tutwiler houses all levels of custody, however the special needs bed capacity cannot be used for general purposes and must be reserved only for those special needs. Tutwiler also has programmed space for a general-purpose assembly/auditorium, a chapel, substance-abuse treatment, and administrative ancillary services.

The prison also has industrial programs to include an IBM plant wherein inmates complete generic data entry for various state agencies, and an inmate clothing factory that manufactures uniforms for the Department and county jails. There is also a trade school, which offers numerous programs. Some of the self improvement courses offered are: Domestic Violence, Anger and Stress Management, Reality Self-Concept Enhancement, Peer Counseling Trainers Survivor of Sexual Abuse, Grief Groups, Healthy Relationships, and Parenting Groups.

Experiencing an increased female offender population, Tutwiler has not kept pace with its designed function of being a reception center for females entering the prison system, and for maintaining an on-hand population of varying custodies. Tutwiler has also outgrown its geographic location. The topography is such that expansion external to the perimeter is prohibitive, and space within the perimeter has been fully exploited. Further, the sewage treatment lagoons cannot be expanded to accommodated additional inmates which are increasing faster than males. Tutwiler has become landlocked.

In February 2003, the Edwina Mitchell Work Release facility was converted to an Annex of the main Tutwiler prison and was assigned minimum custody inmates. This was done in an effort to increase the overall capacity for housing female inmates. All of the female work release functions were shifted to Birmingham Work Release. While this move allowed for housing of additional minimum-custody inmates, it did not resolve the drastic overcrowding issues that Tutwiler was experiencing. Needed is a facility of modern design that will efficiently accommodate the increasing numbers of newly received offenders that undergo initial classification, thorough physical/medical examinations and psychological evaluations; also a steadily increasing general population and numerous sub-population groups of special need females; and space for programmed activities. The current facility can then be utilized at minimal expense for other uses to include housing special sub-population groups emanating from an expanding male offender population.

Ventress Correctional Facility was opened in August of 1990 with a primary mission to provide alcohol and drug treatment to the Department's growing inmate population. It was named in honor of Edward C. Ventress, a long time mayor of Clayton, who was instrumental in getting the prison located in Clayton. Ventress was designed on the campus style model and was dedicated for drug treatment, maintaining medium or below custody inmates in:

- One of the three on-going eight-week treatment disorders.
- One 15-week program for inmates with dual disorders.
- A six-month program funded by a grant created by the Omnibus Crime Bill Act
- A 12-month (minimum) Therapeutic Community.

Spring, 2003, the gymnasium was converted into a dorm to house an additional 200 inmates to help in reducing the overflow of the county jails.

Ventress also offers vocation educational programs, which are provided by the nearby Wallace Community College. An academic program is offered by J.F. Ingram. In addition, Ventress provides community services to localized city, county and state agencies.
